

WAN HAI LINES LTD.

Safety and Environmental Protection Policy

WAN HAI LINES LTD. (the "Company") is well known as a leading container shipping company. All of its shipboard operations and services are provided with a commitment to safety, reliability, energy efficiency, and pollution prevention. In order to fulfill social responsibility toward the environment, the Company implemented the following safety and environmental protection measures based on its managerial philosophies of full participation and business continuity :

1. Compliance with international conventions and regulations, relevant articles of the International Safety Management Code, and any other environmental protection requirements signed and issued by the Company.
2. Monitoring and modifying the extent of pollution and minimizing impact on the environment.
3. Full implementation of the ISO 14001 Environmental Management System(EMS), and establishment of an ISO Committee for periodic review of environmental protection performance.
4. Integrating environmental protection and awareness concepts into the Company's everyday operations.
5. Advocacy of resource recycling and energy saving to reduce waste.
6. Requesting contractors and business partners to enhance environmental protection awareness. Joint observation of environmental protection regulations.
7. Improving safety management skills of personnel onshore and aboard ships, including emergency preparations related to safety and environmental protection.

The scope of ISO environmental management certification includes workers at the Company's operating offices and self-operated ships, and policy promotion and communication targets include colleagues in global operating locations, suppliers, contractors and stakeholders.
